You'll understand the name of this playground as soon as you see it. Most of the steps and bridges lead kids upward to the tower and the arched bridge features. Of course, climbing up via the DTD steps, the tree climber, the pipe wall, or the rockwall climber are not the only things kids ages 5-12 can do on this recycled playground. There are several slides, a chain link climber, and play panels. With an ADA transfer station and the steps, this is an accessible space for all kids. The use zone is 37'x44' and it can easily hold from 30-34 kids in the proper age ranges. Below the playground is plenty of room as well, and a drive panel inspires socializing too. With its impressive design, this playground also comes with impressive warranties. There is a lifetime warranty on the recycled posts, and many of the pieces and materials are backed up with 15-year warranties too. Customizable to your colors, this is a great playground for a mixed group of ages and interests.
