Whether kids love pirate stories or not, few can resist a nautically themed playground, and the Village SS Minnow is a remarkable example of this popular and classic story. Pirate flags dot many of the upright posts, but images of dolphins and sea waves do, as well. Kids aged 2-12 will all find something that inspires them to explore, imagine, and play - no matter what story they spin in their heads as they do so. However, with the different nautical elements it is likely that lots of "Args" and "Mateys" will ring through the air. This recycled playground can accommodate from 80-89 kids due to the use zone of 72'50'. In the space kids will find six different slides, two different raised platforms with hex roofing. There are crawl tunnels, a clatter bridge, bubble panels, inclined rockwall, a chain link ladder, and so much more. Made from some of the most durable materials available, you can count on the 15-year warranty offered on most components and the lifetime warranty on the many recycled posts.
