

MyTCoat Ribbed Steel Ashtray Pylon

MSRP $353.00

SALE $301.00

Highlights:

- Unique cut out design will stand out
- Uses a surface mount to keep it in place
- Grants smokers a place they can safely dispose of their cigarettes
- Ash pan is deep enough to hold a fair amount of cigarettes and is easy to clean

The Ribbed Steel Ashtray Pylon grants your smoking patrons a safe place to store their cigarettes. The striking unit immediately shows smokers where to go with its visible height, allowing them to put their cigarettes in a secure location. This handy structure aids in preventing unwanted and accidental fires that might arise from improperly putting cigarette butts on the ground. It also allows you to separate cigarette butts from the regular trash, further minimizing the risk of an accidental fire occurring. The slim structure provides a convenient place for cigarette butts to go, allowing you to easily rid your venue of cigarettes and to create a clean environment. A surface mount is used to securely position it in place and to keep it from being toppled over. It is made of steel that is covered in a thermoplastic coating, creating a strong and long-lasting unit. The sleek design allows it to fit in even the most compact of spaces and can be paired with other pylons for areas with a high smoking population.