The innovative and collapsible design of the Youth Shelter by Big Toys makes it a space-saving refuge for preschool kids to play, talk, and imagine. A clubhouse feel is created with the roof and benches that make this a cozy place to hang out, read, create, and socialize. At the same time, the open roof and slatted sides keep the structure open and easy to enter and exit. Parents and supervisors can also easily keep track of children within. Whether you prefer the natural wood look or prefer the metal and plastic, this structure is tough and durable, able to remain open to use throughout the year and for many years to come. The structure can hold between four to six children, so there's plenty of opportunity to really get the party started. And, thanks to the shelter's ground-level design, it's ADA accessible, so everyone can join the fun.
