The Rainier is an incredible three-dimensional landscape of activities that will have kids climbing, sliding, and moving in every direction. They can step across the swinging steps of the PlayPod Traverse. There is a Curly Climber and two sets of Firefighter's Towers for those who want to climb vertically to get a better view. The Rainier even has a set of Banister Bars to slide down, and a PushPull, which lets them swing back and forth with a friend. All of the activities are made from highly durable materials. The Rainier can be ordered with metal or wooden support columns.
