No one can resist an ambitious attempt to conquer the Freestanding Curved Post 3-Wheel Overhead Spinner. Children are invited to try it out this playground favorite by climbing the two bars on either side and reaching for the spinning rings. The three turning rings are fastened to a slightly arched beam to further challenge the climbers' as they scale the installation. Kids are encouraged to try a twisting motion to move their body 360 degrees and use their momentum to swing from one side to another. If they aren't quite ready to traverse the spinners, little ones can just hold one wheel and freely spin for as long as they can hold on. This inviting element draws visitors in and delivers beneficial play that promotes strength and coordination. The Freestanding Curved Post 3-Wheel Overhead Spinner proves to require great physical mastery and thoughtful movements, encouraging problem-solving. This simply-designed freestanding structure combines joyous play and integral exercise to promote early childhood development and wellness.
