An ideal place for kids to get some privacy outdoors, Shoots and Roots is a small playground shelter that's replete with thematic play elements. Three Stump Window Panels adorn the sides of Shoots and Roots, which offer literal and figurative windows to the rest of the playground. The fourth wall hosts a small tunnel, which functions as an exit and entry point for kids at play. The Club House Roof provides ample shade for all who take advantage of Shoots and Roots. The roof is also useful to stay dry in case of rain, and cool in case of sunny, dry heat. Whether it's a shy, introverted child who could use a moment or two away from it all, or a small group of friends who wish to make Shoots and Roots into their own clubhouse, there are all sorts of ways this playground clubhouse can be utilized to its fullest potential.
