The Ring Plastic Climber features five hexagon and five pentagon shaped Tortoise climbing panels to create this ring shaped climbing wall. The Tortoise panels are customized configurations of hand and foot holds to allow for easy gripping while climbing. As kids climb on this playground equipment, they are building stronger muscles and improving hand-eye coordination. This climber encourages life-long healthy physical fitness habits and a love for the outdoors. Designed to be in-ground mounted, the Ring Plastic Climber is strong and durable enough for many kids to play on at once. This playground climber keeps kids excitedly playing during play time, and allows them to burn off excess energy. Designed for heavy commercial use in mind, the Tortoise panels are rotationally molded plastic that is resistant to wear and fading.
