Connecting five plastic climbing panels facing alternate directions into a long string of panels creates this long zigzagging climbing wall. The Zig Zag Plastic Climber is ideal for kids age 2-12 and helps even the newest climbers develop their climbing strength and skills. Kids get a whole body workout as they climb up, down, and along the length of this fun playground climber. These plastic panels have holes for little hands and feet to easily climb and grasp as they play. This sturdy playground climber is built for commercial use, and strictly complies with public playground safety guidelines as defined by ASTM and CPSC. The Zig Zag Plastic Climber is perfect for public parks, recreation centers, daycare centers, and school play areas. Climbing walls are a great way for kids to improve their physical health while enjoying playtime outdoors.
