- Flowing design that dips and curves to fit the human form
- Industrial grade aluminium bases under Resinwood planks
- Recycled plastic, Resinwood, planks that are environmentally friendly

Bring a new wave of contemporary seating into your park with the Recycled Plastic St. Pete Bench. The bench is made up of a series of Resinwood planks that form a gently, wavy flow from top to bottom that cradles the occupant. This wave-like shape is maintained with an industrial-grade aluminum base. The Resinwood is a special type of recycled plastic planks that is only available from Frog Furnishings. They have taken extra care to clean the plastic before recycling it into the planks. Their extra care results in a durable, strong, and evenly pigmented plank that is weather and scratch resistant. With the Recycled Plastic St. Pete Bench, you'll be sure to add a wave of comfort in your outdoor space.
